Residential Treatment

(Therapeutic Community Programs)

A Therapeutic Community (TC) is an evidence-based approach to alcohol and other drug treatment. A TC is a residential treatment facility in which the community through self-help and mutual support is the principal means for promoting social change. Cyrenian House operates two TCs: The Rick Hammersley Centre and Serenity Lodge. Both TCs offer services to adults 18 years and older.

Phone: (08) 9328 9200 for enquiries regarding either TC.

Serenity Lodge TC: Is located approximately 40 minutes south of Perth and is only a short stroll from the beach. The four stage program caters for up to 40 people with an equal balance of male and female residents. The program includes counselling, therapeutic groups, education and physical activity in a TC model environment.

Rick Hammersley Therapeutic Community: Is situated within 32 acres of natural bushland, 30 minutes north of Perth. It comprises two programs:

Mixed Gender Program

The program caters for up to 40 people with an equal balance of male and female residents. Six priority beds are held for Aboriginal people seeking treatment. The program includes counselling, therapeutic groups, education and physical activity in a TC model environment.

Saranna Women and Children's Program (Saranna)

Saranna provides an opportunity for mothers with young children in their care to access a residential alcohol and other drug treatment service within a therapeutic community setting.

The Saranna Early Childhood Education and Care Centre

The centre offers a long day care service in an architecturally designed state of the art facility for up to 60 children. Children from the Saranna program and from the local community are eligible to access the service.
